

PINK FLAMINGOES RETURN TO ELBA—After a short hiatus, the ever-famous pink flamingoes have returned this year to assist The Peoples Bank of Coffee County with fund raising for the Relay for Life. Bank employees Melinda Vaughan (left) and Angie Anderson (right) greeted the flock of birds Monday afternoon after they arrived in town. The birds began making visits this week, and who knows where all they will go. For those who receive a visit from the flock, Vaughan said those individuals can call the bank to have them moved somewhere else for the sum of $50. To have the flamingoes moved somewhere and help raise money for the Coffee County Relay for Life, call Melinda Vaughan or Angie Anderson at 897-2252. There is a 24-hour limit on calling to have the flamingoes moved.

Notice:

BRAINSTORMS
With Ferrin Cox

Here is an example of why we avoid like the plague pet lover groups. One such organization in Germany recently proposed that a polar bear cub in a German zoo be put to death rather than raised by humans. This is after it was announced that the mother had abandoned the cuddly little bear. Of course this only grabbed the imagination of the German people and zoo attendance picked up. . . . people just wanting to rally behind this parentless baby. Some years ago PETA, a well known American pet lovers group, took credit for billboards in some college towns advocating it was better to drink beer than milk. Actually I call them fanatics because often their ideas are so far out it would be a disaster if they were actually accepted. What we would like to see is these folks with all this good energy continue working to protect abuse to animals, but with a reality check on their overactive mouths. Or as our mother often reminded us . . . "think before you speak".

Putting household garbage in dumpsters will get you in trouble. This week City Clerk Wayne Grantham announced a crackdown on this abuse of the dumpsters. He is correct in puzzling why any citizen would violate this law. The city of Elba requires all residents to pay a garbage fee, as does Coffee County. Therefore, violating this law is just not smart, nor does it save anyone any money.

South Alabama got its "Easter cold snap" this week, and in spades. Regardless of Easter being early or late, it seems we always get some cool weather for that week. This time it turned out down right cold, with freeze warnings blanketing the South as forecasters were predicting record cold temperatures. During such times it is awful hard to sell the theory that global warming is upon us.

The Alabama legislature is still in slow motion, as major differences have caused a continuing split in Senate members and their idea of how the legislature should be operated. However, this past week we heard one man knowledgeable on the activities in Montgomery comment that he felt the public would be best served if this bunch just stayed in a deadlock for the whole session. That is rather strong, but actually is akin to the sentiment of some disappointed legislators.

A lot of complaints have been voiced over the heavy dose of pollen that has blanketed the South this year. Medical experts who measure such stuff report as much as ten times the normal, but don't have a sure-fire solution for allergy sufferers. The up side of the whole thing is the beautiful flowers which have blanketed the countryside this spring. Azaleas, so popular in this area, are beginning to fade in many places, but can still be a beautiful sight if someone will slow down to enjoy them. Other flowers are just hitting their peak and we need to take time to enjoy them and at the same time thank God for the flowers and the opportunity to see them.

PINK FLAMINGOES MAKING THEIR WAY AROUND TOWN—Since arriving in Elba last week, the "Relay for Life" pink flamingoes have been making daily stops at homes all around town. The flamingoes are in Elba to assist The Peoples Bank of Coffee County with fund raising for the annual American Cancer Society's Relay for Life. According to Melinda Vaughan, coordinator of this fund raising activity for the bank, it has become quite fun to see where the flock of birds will go next. She said no one knows when their yard might receive a visit from the flamingoes. Early Tuesday morning, April 10, the flock was located in the yard of a home on Hickman Avenue near the Elba City Schools. Reportedly, they were gone before Noon as the recipients quickly made their pledge to send the birds on yet another visit. Vaughan reminds residents if the flamingoes happen to show up in their yard, they should call The Peoples Bank of Coffee County (897-2252) to make the $50 pledge and have the birds moved to a new location. Recipients can speak to either Melinda Vaughan or Angie Anderson at the bank regarding this fund-raising event. It is important to keep the flamingoes moving. Vaughan said this event already has proven to be loads of fun for those involved, and she offered thanks to those who have accepted the challenge to participate.

Familiar chime returns to Elba

by Linda Hodge, Editor

It's been a long time since the clock chimed on the hour at the Coffee County Courthouse in Elba. Truth be told, I was probably in my early teens or younger when the clock stopped chiming.

I'm proud to say that's not the case anymore, and we have the Coffee County Commission to thank for it.

For years, I've heard people say they wish the courthouse clock would properly again (with all four sides showing the same time). It had even been so long since the clock chimed that I had actually forgotten about it. Recently, however, the county commission approved a motion made by Commissioner Robert Stephens to pay to have the clock repaired. This was a motion I was glad to see the commission approve.

After all, it would be nice to have the clock display the same time no matter which side of the courthouse you were standing. The funny thing is, even after the motion was approved, I still didn't remember the chiming. Then, about a week or so ago, I was outside the office when the clock struck on the hour. Memories of listening to the hourly chimes came flooding back.

I know it probably sounds crazy, but I'm thrilled every time I hear the clock strike on the hour. I've even caught myself stopping a time or two just to listen to the chimes.

I thank the Coffee County Commission for helping return an old tradition to Elba.

Sen. Richard Shelby announces funding for Coffee County

U.S. Senator Richard Shelby (R-AL) recently announced the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has agreed to reimburse Coffee County for 100 percent of eligible expenses incurred during the first 48-hours after the storms on March 1, 2007.

"Coffee County, and in particular the City of Enterprise, was devastated by the tornadoes that ripped through Alabama causing more than $400 million dollars in damage," said Senator Shelby. "In the aftermath of the storms, I visited Enterprise twice, and what I saw there was devastating. Lives were shattered and the county is struggling to rebuild. This federal funding will help the residents of Coffee County recover from this terrible disaster."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Elba Clipper Readers:

Libraries in Elba join all types of libraries and the people who use them to celebrate National Library Week, April 15-21, 2007. This year's theme is "Come together @ your library."

Some might say that books are obsolete and that memory sticks have replaced library stacks. Not so! Library usage is up nationwide with over 2 billion items checked out by 1.8 billion patrons last year. Stop by one of our local libraries and ask for statistics. Any library/media specialist would love to share success stories.

The age of technology has enhanced libraries and their usefulness by providing 24/7 information deliveries. On-line databases like Alabama's Virtual Library and the Internet continue to grow and expand. Not only information storage facilities, libraries provide gathering places for people of all ages, ethnic backgrounds, and economic means to access trained professionals who can help locate and evaluate sources.

Whether one is looking for job information, genealogy, a movie to share with family, or books, newspapers, or magazines to read, check out a library. Join me in celebrating all libraries in Elba during National Library Week.

Sincerely,
Margaret Calhoun, LMS
Elba High School

Dear Editor,

I am searching for relatives of F/O David Lamar Smith who lived and attended school in Louisville (AL) in the 1930s and 40s. Lamar was killed in WW2 when his plane crashed in the Philippines. His parents were David Howell and Frances Dunnivant Smith. They had divorced at the time of Lamar's death, and she had remarried first to Peterson and later to Franke and was living in Pensacola. Lamar's body was disinterred from the Philippines and reburied in Old Tabernacle cemetery in Coffee County.

In the town hall in Louisville are pictures of local sons who died in WW2 with the exception of Lamar. I am hoping to find a relative who has a picture or can direct me to someone who has so Lamar can receive like recognition.

I can be reached by e-mail at cpe264954@aol.com by telephone at 334-266-5447, or by mail at PO Box 6, Louisville, AL 36048.

A WHOLE LOT OF SHAKING

It was Wednesday April 18, 1906. Racing westward at more than 17 miles a minute, the sun brought its morning light first to the east coast, then to Detroit and on to Chicago. Blazing its way across the Prairies and into the Rockies, great fields of spring grass and peaks of melting snow began sparkling as the sun arrived.

Near the Pacific coast in central California, deep beneath the flowers and fruit trees where the sun never penetrates, the force with which two great plates of rock were pressing against one another became too great. At 5:12 AM, shortly before the sun arrived, the San Andreas Fault snapped like a rubber band.

Striking towards the surface, the devastating power that normally sleeps miles beneath the earth's crust exploded under San Francisco. Buildings toppled as if they were little matchstick houses. Sewer and water mains crumpled. Roads pitched, and then buckled. Power lines snapped like strands of thread. Underground gas lines burst open, pouring their deadly contents into the air. After a minute, the shaking stopped and the burning began.

Without any water to stop them, flames spread quickly. Firemen and residents, helpless to do otherwise, fled for their lives. The city quickly turned into a giant inferno, with temperatures reaching 2,000 degrees. Finally, on Saturday night, the rains came. The burning was over. In three days, the firestorm had consumed 30 schools, 80 churches, and 250,000 homes. It had consumed over 2,831 acres, or 490 city blocks. More than 3,000 people were dead. Physical damages topped $250 million (nearly $5 billion in 2001 dollars).

Showing the determination used to create a nation,

San Francisco's residents set about rebuilding their city. A scant nine years later, they celebrated its resurrection by hosting the Panama-Pacific International Exhibition.

A Good Friday World

Matthew 28

Easter Sunday - what a glorious day it is to celebrate. On Friday, Jesus crucified and everything looked dark. It looked like death and sin had won. But then, on Easter morning, the tomb was found empty and the great stone rolled away. CHRIST HAS RISEN!

We live in a "Good Friday" world. Everywhere we look it seems that evil and sin are winning. It seems like bitterness, sorrow, envy and hatred are the victors. But, CHRIST HAS RISEN! God has assured us through the resurrection of our Lord that our sins have been forgiven, and that we have eternal life and victory over the grave. What glorious news Easter brings. No matter what happens in this "Good Friday" world of ours, we have won the victory through Christ. We have eternal life and victory over the grave. We have forgiveness of sins. No matter what comes our way, we are the victors through our risen Lord. No more joyful news than this will ever be heard. "HE IS RISEN."

Spotlight

by Ciara Burrows

This week's student spotlight focuses on Elba High School's one and only Nick Nelson.

Nick is a senior this year and is the 18-year-old son of John and Christina Nelson. He enjoys hanging out with friends and sports. After graduation, Nick plans to go into the United States Marine Corps.

When asked how to describe himself, he said, "funny, hard-working and outgoing!"

Skills USA group tours Honda plant and Talladega Superspeedway

by Ryan McCallough

On Tuesday, March 20, the Elba chapter of Skills USA (formerly VICA) took a trip to the Honda Automobile Manufacturing Plant in Lincoln, Ala.

While at the plant, the students viewed first hand how an automobile is built. The group saw a Honda Odyssey built from the ground up.

After leaving the plant, the group traveled to Talladega to tour the International Motorsports Hall of Fame and Talladega Superspeedway. At the Hall of Fame, the students viewed a variety of historic racecars including Bill Elliot's 1987 Ford Thunderbird, the fastest stock car in history; Davey Allison's 1987 Ford Thunderbird, and Dale Earnhardt's 1999 Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

The highlight of the trip came when the students toured the racetrack. While at the speedway, the students watched as a Joe Gibbs racing car ran test laps to prepare for the upcoming Aaron's 499 Race.

Chase Boutwell, Stephen Driggers and Wesley Calhoun check out historic racecars while visiting the International Motorsports Hall of Fame in Talladega, Ala.

JV baseball and softball seasons end

by Melanie Mularz

With the school year rolling to an end, so has the junior varsity baseball and softball seasons.

Both teams had a great season with the softball team finishing 8-2 and going undefeated in the Luverne Tournament. The JV Lady Tigers were a young team this year being led by only two freshmen, Kayla Rials and Janae Carnley.

Eighth grader Lindsay Carley carried the team at the beginning of the year, but after her mid-season move up to varsity, Bethany Wilson came in and finished the season.

The baseball team, on the other hand, had a slightly rocky season but did win the Brantley Tournament losing only one game and placing second in the Arton Tournament. They also were a young team this year with the majority of the team returning next year.

Elba Elementary School students enjoy testing incentive week

by Brittany Phillips

The week of March 26-30 was indeed a fun and exciting one for the kids at Elba Elementary.

Each day was filled with excitement as they prepared to focus on the SAT's. The students took practice tests from a book entitled, Believe, Achieve, and Succeed at Test Time.

Each class competed against one another for the highest average. During the week, the children learned how to work together to achieve high test scores.

On Thursday, they held an All Star Testing School Assembly. During the assembly the children watched a film clip from Air Buddies.

Coach Scott Rials spoke and used an acrostic for the word

Elba (E-Enthusiasm, L-Listen, B-Believe, A-Achieve). The cheerleaders performed a dance to pep the kids up. Mrs. Lynn Baker wrote a song originated from the 12 Days of Christmas and named it "The Twelve Days of Testing."

The children seemed to have had a good time.

Students reminded of cell phone policy

All cell phones, cameras, pagers, beepers, etc. visible during the school day will be taken up by the teacher or administrator and returned to the student at the end of the day. Subsequent violations will result in disciplinary action.

The use of such devices during the school day is strictly prohibited and will result in disciplinary action. In-school suspension will be assigned to students.

Elba conducts SAT-10/ARMT testing

by Tierney Starks

Elementary and junior high teachers and students have been working hard to prepare for the year-end tests.

As is true each year during April, SAT-10 and ARMT testing is here once again. The SAT is the Stanford Achievement Test-10th Edition and the ARMT is the Alabama Reading and Math Test.

These tests involve all first through eighth graders and is being taken from April 3-12. These tests are mandated by the Alabama State Department of Education and are used as a means of measuring Elba City Schools' status in regards to whether or not it meets annual goals according to the federal mandate "No Child Left Behind."

Results will be made public in August.

New Brockton plans Spring Festival

New Brockton is hosting the annual Spring Festival in downtown this year, showcasing revitalization of the town's sidewalks and buildings, along with an old-fashion day of barbecue, entertainment and arts and crafts.

The festival, Saturday, May 5, begins at 8 a.m. and lasts throughout the day until 5 p.m. The main street (McKinnon) will be closed with vendor spaces on the sidewalks and in the street. Spaces will also be available on South John Street to the New Brockton Memorial Park area.

A barbecue cook-off contest is scheduled at the park with teams preparing to sell individual servings to the public. Cash prizes will be awarded based on the number of entries.

The cook-off will have two divisions in youth and adult with three categories in each division of beef, chicken and pork. For information on the cook-off, call Stan Windham at 894-5596.

Vendor space rentals are available. To register for a vendor space, call city hall at 894-5550 or registration forms are available at city hall.

"We hope to fill up main street and South John to the park," city organizer Beverly Sparrow said. "We welcome all kinds of arts, antiques, crafts and food vendors to help make the day like an old-fashion day in town."

Sparrow said festival t-shirts will also be available the morning of the festival.

"People can order theirs and pick it up at the registration area on McKinnon Street the morning of the festival," she said. Along with the food and arts and crafts, entertainment is scheduled throughout the day on main street and at the park.

"We're having this in conjunction with the weekend of the Native American festival in town that weekend, too," Sparrow said. "We want people to see the hospitality of a small town and

THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

While we didn't hunt Easter Eggs last weekend, I did take time out to think back about the days when the girls were young and we would hunt eggs all afternoon. The adults would hide the eggs the first couple of times and would make them easy to see, then the kids would want us to hunt and we would go inside while the youngsters would hide eggs in places where we would never find them. That was always okay, because the next year we would always seem to find a few left over from the year before.

FOR WHAT IT IS WORTH....

 The Elba Tigers split a pair of area games last week and now with three weeks left in the regular season own an 8-15 record, 1-1 in area play. The Tigers will play their two area rivals again this week to determine the two teams that will advance to the state playoffs, and with one loss already on their ledger they need to sweep the area contests to guarantee themselves a spot in post-season play. While a winning record is just about out of the question, a trip to the playoffs would at least soothe a couple of wounds for the team and its coaches.

 The Elba Lady Tigers split their two games last week to move to 8-10 on the season, with the win coming over region foe Straughn. In the win over Straughn, Elba's Ashley Carpenter blasted a three-run homer over the left-field fence in the first inning to put the Lady Tigers on top 3-0 early, and they then got out of a bases-loaded jam in the bottom of the seventh to leave with the road win. The Lady Tigers will have to play their best to win any of the games left on their schedule, but they have proven they can win at any time, and just maybe they have saved the best for last.

 A look around the county finds the baseball and softball seasons getting very interesting. In baseball, the Kinston Bulldogs and New Brockton Gamecocks appear to be peaking at the right time and should make the playoffs, while over in softball Kinston remains one of the top ranked teams in its class, while New Brockton is much improved and could surprise some folks come tournament time. There are still plenty of games left on the schedule and lots of excitement left for the fans.

 The youth baseball and softball seasons opened last week, and dodged the muddy fields in the opener and cold temperatures in the final night of the week to get in a week filled with fun and excitement. Baseball games are being held at Legion Field, on the Troy Highway, on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights, while over at Hawkins-Williams Park the girls softball teams play three nights a week and the younger teams (coach-pitch and tee-ball) play on Tuesdays and Thursdays. There is never a charge. So, c'mon out and cheer for the youngsters.

 Now that the Major League Baseball season has started I have stayed up late a few nights watching the Braves. I will admit I kind of liked it last season when Atlanta missed the playoffs for the first time in years, but now that the season is back I am an Atlanta fan and am pulling for the Braves to make a run at the title. Who knows, maybe this summer I will actually make it back up and watch a game in person.

 In closing.... rumor has it that the Enterprise Wildcats will play their football games next season at Movie Gallery Stadium at Troy University. The move will no doubt mean the Wildcats will play some games on Thursday nights. However, the stadium is a great place to watch football and may keep the Wildcats and their fans from getting too home sick about not being able to play in their own stadium. It should be an interesting move for all considered.

Tigers outscore Pike County 10-8

The Elba Tigers got back on the winning track last Tuesday afternoon with an exciting 10-8 win over the Pike County Bulldogs, in Brundidge.

The Tigers failed to take advantage of two hits in the top of the first, but Pike County was ready to get on the scoreboard, and the Bulldogs did just that as they combined 5 hits with one error and one walk to plate four runs and grabbed the early lead at 4-0.

Elba again wasted two base hits in the second inning as they trailed 4-0 heading into the top of the third. However, the Tigers did dent the scoreboard in their third trip to the plate as they plated four runs to pull even at 4-4. Bradley Wilson drew a one-out walk and Andrew Head followed with a single to spark the Elba rally, while Justin McLaughlin blasted a three-run homer to cut the Bulldogs' lead to 4-3. Chase Boutwell and Brad Sullivan both came through with two out singles, and Boutwell scored on an error as the Tigers pulled even 4-4 in the top of the third.

Pike County regained the lead at 6-4 in the bottom of the third, but the Bulldogs' lead didn't last for long as Elba broke loose for four runs in the top of the fourth to grab an 8-6 lead. Don Rhoades drew a lead-off walk to spark the Tiger rally and scored on an error off the bat of Dylan McCollough, while Andrew Head delivered a one-out rbi double. Stephen Driggers reached on an error, and Justin McLaughlin added an rbi single to enable Elba to take its first lead of the day.

Pike County used three hits and an Elba error to pull even at 8-8 in the bottom of the fourth. However, the Tigers once again rallied and this time plated two runs to pull ahead 10-8 in the top of the sixth. A lead-off single by Andrew Head ignited the Elba uprising, while Justin McLaughlin came through with a one-out, rbi double, and Chase Boutwell knocked in McLaughlin as the Tigers moved ahead 10-8.

Pike County left the bases loaded in its half of the fifth and had its lead-off runner on base in the seventh, but failed to score again as Elba held on for the 10-8 win.

Justin McLaughlin had 4 hits, including a 3-run homer, and knocked in 5 runs to lead Elba at the plate, while Andrew Head added 4 hits and scored 3 runs. Chase Boutwell and Brad Sullivan both had 2 hits, while Bradley Wilson, Justin Mallory and Don Rhoades all added 1 hit. Stephen Driggers was the winning pitcher for the Tigers as he pitched seven innings and allowed 8 runs on 11 hits, with 3 strike-outs. Driggers allowed all 8 runs and 10 hits in the opening four innings, but settled down late and over the final three innings held the Bulldogs without a run and only one hit.

Gardner and Ammons get checkered flags at SAS

By Mark Chism

The 2007 racing season at South Alabama Speedway started with a bang with the most exciting Rattler Late Model races in history. The excitement continued March 31st, as Charles Gardner, and Billy Ammons took wins in the Roadrunner and Street Stock Features.

Billy Maxie took the lead on the first lap and, with the exception of lap 6, led until the final turn of the 25-lap Roadrunner Feature.

Gardner, starting in the middle of the pack, moved into second on lap 14 and began looking for a push around the leader. Maxie was able to hold off his challenger until the final lap. Gardner got a run on Maxie heading into turn three. There was contact which sent Maxie up the track. Gardner scooted underneath to take the lead. Maxie fought to regain control but got into the side of Tim Peters as they exited turn four. Peters lost a wheel in the melee, but was able to cross the stripe in second. John Singletary, who led lap six, came across third.

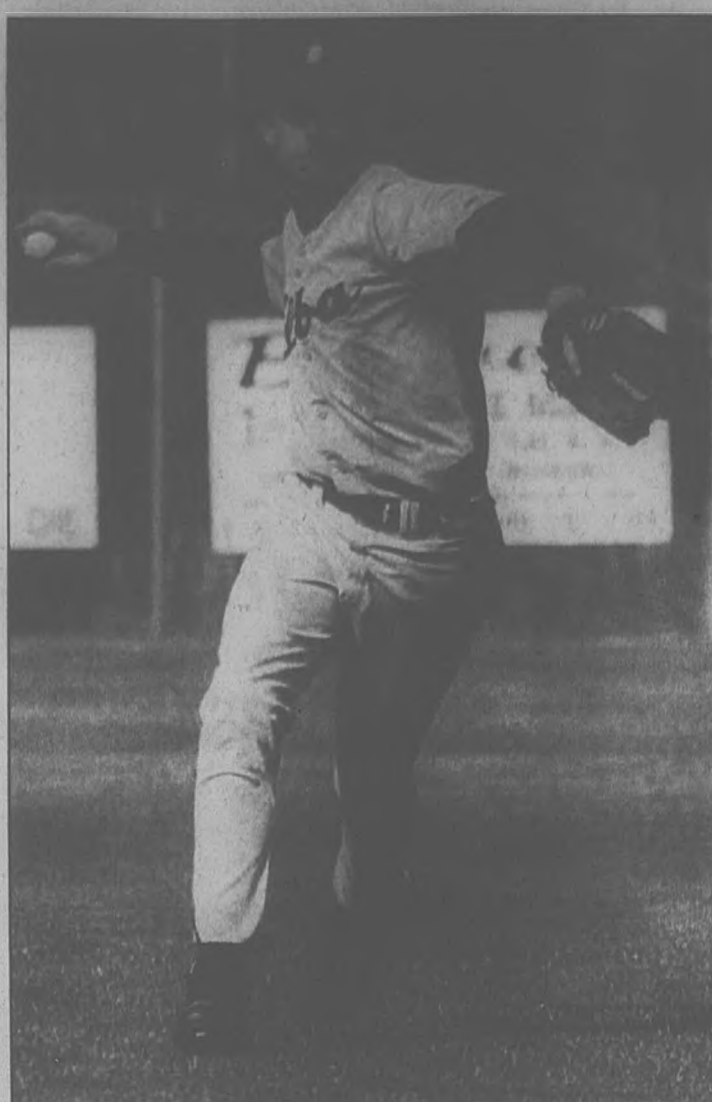

In the Street Stock Feature, Cameron Henderson grabbed the lead from the outside pole. Henderson led until Jeff Rudd took over on lap four. Rudd built a comfortable lead while Ammons moved through the field. Ammons finally moved into second on lap ten, but was several car lengths behind Rudd. Ammons finally caught Rudd as the laps ran down. On the final lap, he moved inside of Rudd going into turn three, taking the lead as Rudd slid up the track. Ammons went on to take the checkers with Rudd second.

In the Super Stock Feature, Heath Mills led flag to flag to take the win. Jody Henderson came from the fourth starting spot to take second, but was no match for Mills.

Edward Berry ran away with the Modified Feature win. Berry took the lead on the fourth lap and cruised home. Kevin Peel came from the sixth starting spot to cross the line second. However, Peel was disqualified.

State unemployment rate remains low

Alabama's unemployment rate remained a low 3.3 percent in February, unchanged from January.

"Alabama's economy continues showing growth and strength," said Governor Bob Riley. "With the middle class tax cuts and pro-growth tax incentives I've proposed, we can sustain this growth, which makes our economy even stronger and results in more funding for schools. Anyone who says tax relief and tax incentives hurt education funding is absolutely wrong. The only way to increase education funding is to stimulate more economic growth."

Wage and salary employment increased by 11,000 in February, while the number of unemployed Alabamians dropped from 73,848 in January to 73,584 in February. In the last 12 months, employment increased by 35,800 in Alabama.

Alabama's unemployment rate remained below the national unemployment rate, which was 4.5 percent for February.

His request simply allows him to start paperwork and apply for federal funds for the possible resurfacing of County Road 239 from County Rd. 249 to County Rd. 248; County Rd. 239 from Commissioners voted to approve Tindell's request to purchase eight 30-year roll-off containers. They also approved his request to purchase a tire changing machine.

Pat Clark was named to the Elba Library Board, replacing Pat Sharpless. Mrs. Sharpless' term had expired, and the mayor said she had asked not to be reappointed.

The council approved a request from the fire department to purchase a new equipment truck. The existing truck has increasingly had mechanical problems, according to the request. Funds for the purchase will come from the Tobacco Tax Fund, earmarked for fire protection equipment.

Monthly bills totaling $98,412 were approved for payment.

City Clerk Wayne Grantham reported a large number of citizens are illegally dumping household garbage in the business dumpsters. He read from the municipal ordinance which makes it illegal for individuals to place anything in such containers. He added that televisions and computer monitors should be placed beside the road and will be picked up by a special detail, but not ever put into dumpsters or mixed with any other garbage. Grantham said violators will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Grimes reported that drafts of the proposed new clean up ordinances are ready. He suggested a workshop next Monday at 5:30 p.m. to study the documents. Council members agreed to the workshop, which will be attended by the city attorney.

HEROES LIVE AMONG US 8-year-old girl's actions help save her grandmother

by Brian Blair, Staff Writer

Quick thinking on the part of a young girl proved to be lifesaving Monday, April 9, when an accident occurred outside her grandparent's home.

"She's my hero," says Penny Driggers of the Bullock Community near Brantley regarding the actions of her granddaughter, Madeline Driggers.

According to Mrs. Driggers, the evening appeared normal as she was "spoiling" her grandchildren, Madeline, Parker, Caroline and Mary Katherine, while her daughter-in-law, Laura, took the other two children, Taylor and Sarah, to a baseball game in Elba. After some time had passed, Laura called Mrs. Driggers to say she was on the way home from the game. It was at this time that Mrs. Driggers said she decided to take the four children (she was keeping) home and have them ready for bed when their mother arrived.

After they had all gotten into the vehicle, Mrs. Driggers noticed the interior lights were still on and saw a light on her vehicle's dash display indicating that a door was not securely closed. As she exited the vehicle holding Mary Katherine in her arms, she turned with her back to the driver's door to close the rear driver's side door when she said she felt the vehicle rolling backwards. Apparently, she had accidentally put the car into neutral, not park.

"I tried to keep the vehicle from rolling with my body," said Driggers.

However, as she felt herself begin to fall, Driggers said she

"by the grace of God" was able to lay Mary Katherine down about two to three feet from her. "I was yelling for Madeline, who is 8-years-old, to get out and get her granddaddy," Driggers said. "Now, I'm glad she didn't."

At this point, Mrs. Driggers said she could feel the tire coming up her left leg. Next, she said she felt it reach her waistline, and then, suddenly it stopped.

"I was trying to figure out what had happened," said Driggers. "I kept thinking that my body had stopped the vehicle from rolling all the way over me. I could hear the children screaming and I heard Harry, my husband, come outside."

Mr. Driggers said the only reason he came outside was because he heard the screaming. When he ran outside, he said he saw the vehicle's left front tire on top of his wife, and she was face down.

When he made it to his wife, he said she told him to get the car off of her to which he told her that he would have to drive it off. It was at this point when he got in the car that Mr. Driggers said he saw Madeline with her foot on the brake pedal. He said as she released the

Coffee County recognized for best Farm-City committee in state

"Partners in Progress" was the theme for Farm-City Programs throughout the state last year, and it's a joint venture that's working well, judging by the participation in this year's Farm-City Awards Program held April 16 in Birmingham.

Coffee County was recognized for having the best Farm-City Committee in the state, while students from Randolph and Calhoun counties took top honors in the state Farm-City Poster Contest. Writers from Randolph and Jackson counties claimed first-place prizes in the Farm-City Essay Contest.

"There are fewer farmers in America who are providing more food, fiber and fuel than ever before," said Alabama Farm-City Chairman J. Paul Till. "However, without urban residents to consume those products, farmers wouldn't be in business very long. Both groups really do form a partnership, and that's what Farm-City is all about."

Established in 1955, National Farm-City Week is observed each year the week before Thanksgiving. The awards program recognized county groups and individuals for activities associated with the annual observance.

The Coffee County Farm-City Committee qualified for the overall best Farm-City Committee award by taking top honors in Division I, which includes counties with populations of 35,600 or more. In addition, Coffee County won the award for the best Farm-City dinner. Cullman County was the runner-up in Division I and won the innovative idea award. Montgomery County received the Division I award for the best Farm-City tour. St. Clair County won the scrapbook award and the award for the best special activities. Houston County won the award for the best media coverage and proclamation, while Jackson County won for the best civic club activities.

TEST OF SYSTEM SET FOR THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 26th Elba City School System implements new emergency communications calling system

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba City School System recently purchased a service officials feel will benefit everyone from students and parents to faculty and administrators and those in between at times of emergency.

The school system purchased an Emergency Communications Calling System service through a company located in Macon, Ga. According to Jeff Ellis, technology coordinator for Elba City Schools, the service will help the school system better communicate with everyone involved and get messages delivered in a quick and efficient manner.

Ellis said the service, which already is in place at the schools, allows for a voice message to be recorded and delivered to those on the selected call list(s). He said once the person recording the message tells the system to execute, everyone on the call list will be contacted within approximately five minutes.

"We looked into this (service) at the end of last summer," Ellis said. "There were flaws with the system at that time."

Now, he said officials believe the kinks have been worked out of the system. Therefore, it was decided to be the appropriate time to retain the service.

While the tragic events that occurred March 1st in nearby Enterprise actually had no bearing on the school systems purchase of the calling system, Ellis said it certainly will be beneficial in regards to possible future weather-related events.

Ellis said the system also will prove effective for other communication needs as well.

"This will be a great way to have instantaneous contact with parents," he said. "It will be a good way to inform parents of happenings and events."

Ellis said the system could be used to announce such things as the date report cards will go out or as a reminder to upcoming testing. Also, he said it could be used to let parents know if a bus breaks down during a trip or announce a more accurate time when a group will return home from a trip. He said the possibilities for using the system are endless.

Currently, Ellis said the school system has call lists prepared for all students, all system employees and individual classes. In the future, he said there will be more specific lists for use such as band, football, just senior class members, etc.

A "test" of the new emergency calling system has been scheduled for Thursday, April 26, for both the elementary and high schools. Ellis said parents should expect to receive a "test" telephone call between the hours of 5-7 p.m. with a message from Superintendent Danny Weeks indicating the test of the new emergency communications calling system.

For any parents that do not receive a call on the 26th, Ellis asks that they call their child's school office and provide updated phone contact information. He said the school system is eager to test the system and make sure it is working as good
